THE GREAT WEST.

President R. R. Cable of the Bock Island Road and Family in Town Attending Yale Commencement-What President Cable Says About the Business Prospects of the

Among the guests at the Yale com mencement is the famous president of rallway, one of the great roads of the United States, and a road in which New Haven as a city has a sentimental interest, as the original road was built by a New Haven man, one whose mem ory is specially honored here, he having been not only one of our most estima ble citizens, but a benefactor to New Haven, and whose name is inseparably connected with beautiful Farnam drive f our splendid East Rock Park. Pres ident Cable is a fine type of the western business man, of commanding pres nce, dignified yet easily approachable and companionable. With him is his charming wife and his two daughters and maid. They are stopping at the New Haven house. Their special in-terest in Yale commencement is the fact of the graduation of young Mr. Cable, class of '95, Yale academic, son of the railroad president. President Cable spent most of the afternoon in the charmed circle on the college campus, where the class histories were being read, and despite the hot rays of the sun pouring down on the scene, he seemed to enjoy the gay and brilliant and inspiring occasion to the utmost, and as if the sun's rays re-minded him of what that orb is doing for the great corn crop in prospec along the line of the Rock Island road and other parts of the great and still wonderfully growing west. Mr. Cable is a bull on granger railroad stocks, in-cluding, of course, Rock Island, and said last evening that the brilliant prospects of the corn crop were certainly such as to justify and warrant exctations of higher prices for Rock sland and other corn carrying roads. He spoke of the financial condition of he Rock Island road in very satisfac ory terms, of better prices for wheat and corn now obtaining and of the big orn crop prospects, as very cheering and encouraging. Mr. Cable spent some time yesterday with his friend, Mr

Pain's "Last Days of Pompeil"-A Great Speciacular Performance.

Our best citizens should be in evidence at the Savin Rock baseball grounds next Saturday night, June 20, to witness the presentation of Pain's Last Days of Pompeli. Not the least features of this spectacle are the daring acts of the specialty performers. Harry LaRue waltzes on a globe with ease and neatness, and he climbs a spiral column on a rubber ball, which will bring forth hearty applause from the audience. The St. Belinos brothers and sister appear in a daring trapeze act, finishing with a leap of fifty feet through the air and through a good sized hoop filled with fireworks. For neatness and accuracy the Gross broth ers are said to excell anything befor seen in the line of statuesque posing, their fine figures lending charm to the effort. The Leetz brothers are clever boxers, and are appreciated by the occupants of the bleachers. The ballet is all in all. Pyrotechnist Pain will give us three shows, spectacle, circus, and fireworks for one admission fee, which has been fixed at the low price of 25c and 50c, and 75c and $1 for

G. R. BUNNELL

Leases the Leading Bridgeport Theater,

The announcement is made that G. B. Bunnell has arranged to sign a contract for a long lease of the Auditorium, the eading theater of Bridgeport. During the summer Mr. Bunnell will practically rebuild the Auditorium, greatly enarging the stage and making it almos es large and arranging it in substantial-ly as convenient a form as the stage of the Hyperion. Manager Bunnell will book the best attractions for an appearance in New Haven and Bridgeport luring consecutive nights. Being able to offer extra inducements to the leadng companies, he will secure the very est of them at intervals throughout he whole senson.

Mr. Bunnell's arrangements in Bridgeport will be of benefit to the amusement loving public of New Haven, for the greater the authority be exercises in the amusement field the greater will be his opportunities for furnishing the best attractions in the coun-

Rev. Dr. Sage will assist in the services. The elec-tric cars on the Fair Haven Street railway will connect with a stage leaving East Haven for Branford at 6:30. The return will be made at 10:15.

Architect Robinson has inspected the old bell tower at steamer No. 5's house for the fire commissioners with a possible view of rebuilding it. It is prob able the tower can be built for less than $400. It is to be hoped Mr. Robinson's report will be favorable, so the commissioners will see their way clear to have the fire bell in position again. Fred S. Waterbury is home from th west after an absence of a year. He has been attending the Central university of Kentucky at Louisville, and ha been very successful having received the dean's gold medal for the best examination in medicine against a competition of 700 students. Mr. Waterbury was the only northern student in the university. He will graduate at the end of the winter term, January 1. During vacation he expects to accept position in the Louisville infirmary and he has the offer of the position of resident physician at the Louisville city hospital during 1896, and after wards expects to locate in this city During his vacations he has traveled considerably, going as far south Mexico representing a type writer interest.
